There was Christy Mathewson in 1900 as the beginning of the dynasty. The big fellow gitched three of the games against the Athletics and won them all, enabling the Ginats to take the series, who had been regarded as about the weakest man on the team, and who held his job only because the substitutes on hand were even worse, was the leading actor for the White Sox in 1996. "BECK'S" AMEN CORNER

How did the first game in the world's series suit you? Alexander did not do as well as some of us expected but it isn't the number of hits but the runs that count in the games. It was noticed, too, in compiling a box score, that the Red Sox had a man left on base in every inning, so the "Iron Man" is evi-dently "right there" with the pinch stuff. The Phillies also appeared to have a slight edge on the fielding so this series may not be such a walk-away for the Red Sox as some of the fans are predicting.

PLAYERS in the world's series will tut a nice melon out of their share of the gate receipts on Friday. They will have a total of $27,575.64 to "divvy up" out of that one game, which will mean something about $600 for each player. Lots of us would be willing to work a couple of hours for that amount. How about you?

"I JONEST JOHN" M'CLOSKEY is in the war path. Some enter-prising biliposter, without a "by your leave" or anything of that nature, plastered bills over 100 feet of the fine metal fence at Rio Grande park and now Mack figures that he will have a month's job with soap and hot water getting the paper off so that the sign painters may use the fence for advertisements. The conwill likely have to foot a few damage hills next week. They had considerable of what some people term "gall"

JIM BROWN is likely to bring his Miami baseball team to El Paso after all. Jim has challenged the winners of the present city championship series to meet his all-stars here after the series closes and it is likely that the challenge will be accepted and games be played every day for a week. There is no reason why the series should not be a success for the weather conditions are ideal for baseball in El Paso long after the season is closed in the north and east.

BAT NELSON is still begging Freddie Weish for a 45-round bout at Juarez. The champion has announced that he will box Nelson 20 rounds for $13,000 or go ever 20 rounds for $650 for each additional round up to 30, and then $1000 a round up to 45 rounds. He is also willing to bet Nelson that he will win and suggests a stake of $10,000. In the first place, there isn't much thance of the Juarez promoters put-ting up $34,500 for a 45-round bout with Nelson as one of the contestants and in the second place, the fans are not half as keen on the match as is Nelson and it's a dead cinch that Bat isn't going to stick up that purse himself.

EL PASO wasn't long in getting the news of the first world's series game. It was just two minutes after Luderus had been thrown out in the ninth inning at Philadelphia that the wires ticked off the final

"KID" GEORGE looks like a winner for Sunday's night's bont across the river. . George will not have very much on Herrick in weight but has made the more impressive appearance in the training camps. Moreover, there is an impression that George hasn't been showing his full bag of tricks in his public appearances and is holding something in reserve in the nature of a surprise for Herrick. . The bout looks to be a good nopular price affair and should

"GRASSHOPPER" WEISS upset our dope, all right, by helding the 20th infantry to five hits in Friday's city championship game. Maresch also pitched a great game for he allowed but two hits for eight innings, weakening in the minth. Rather, he was outguessed in the ninth by Billy Meason. The "El Paso world's series" is creating a lot of interest and there should be another record crowd out on Sunday

SHORE pitched well enough against the Phillies on Friday to have won eight of ten games but he happened to be bushing a master pitcher. Against any other Philly heaver, Shore looks good snough to win.

American League Record.

The first American league pennant won by Boston was in 1902, with Jimmy Collins as manager. In 1904 Collins turned the trick again. After a wait of eight years the Sox recters were rewarded with a third pennant, presented to them by Jake Stahl and his 1912 warriors.

And now comes Bill Carrigan with another.

And now comes Bill Carrigan with another.

No Boston team has ever lost in a world's series battle—and Boston is confident that the Fhillies will not smash traditions now.

The American league champions if 1892 beat the Pirates, five games to three, in a nine-game series. In 1995 no series was played. The Giante won the National league pennant in that year and the New York club refused to play the Red Sox, claiming the Americans were "minor leaguers."

In 1912 the Sox was four out of eight sames from the Giants ione being a tiel and last year—oh, well, what's the use of reminding Philadelphia about that.

guessea. This seems to be borne out by the fact that a whole lot of men have been tried out in practice an back on the first combination. Guernase, Scovil. Captain Alaz Wilson, Easton, Charley Taft, sen of the former president, have been employed behind the line.

All these speculations are wrong. The real reason Legore has not been on the first team is an entirely different one.

Legore Lax os Signais.

"Hinkey is deathly afraid of Legore," says a Tale wellwicher, "ever momont Legore is on the fleid—afraid he will make some mintake in tactice that will mean directer. Legore has been known to miss a signal and then say check." The signal may be for him to mary the ball, but he will take a chance on it. Sometimes be falls to catch just what the signal is and thinks it is something entirely different from what it is—and will act accordingly, thereby jumbling the entire play.

Legore is a mighty tackler, a fine man in defence in all its physical phases but is likely to be fooled completely by some trick play of the exposition. There are other phases of his lapses in this line that could be mentioned, but the ones I speak of are chough to illustrate the point. Hinkey is keeping, Legore out of the game because he fears his slips at a possibly important moment when he may lose a done game.

Makes Team & Percent Stronger.

Makes Team 45 Percent Stronger. Legore, however, is a physical player of such a wonderful grade that I believe his little mintakes can be A Steace, pitcher, J. J. Sailivan, pitcher, pi
